The corporate consulting service at Online Marketing Genie is second to none. We produce results beyond your expectation by getting you exactly what you need as a corporation doing business online.

Which is... Lazer Targeted Traffic and Sales.

My name is William White.

I'm the Lead Corporate Consultant for Online Marketing Genie.

We've been in the business of lead and sales generation online since 1998. As corporate consultants we drive straight to the point. We take your current corporate business model and drive traffic to your online front door using proven marketing channels. Just as you do offline, we find your customers "hang-outs" then lure them into your website, converting your visitors into leads, followers and long term customers.

We do this using a variety of marketing methods, form social media to organic SEO. But we do not do it casually. We do it with a rapid force, because a handful of customers just won't do, so we work to provide you a never ending supply.

Regardless of where you want to be and when, we can take you there. You can contact me directly at 407-325-8363. I'll answer your questions directly to the point of your corporate concerns and your need for fast online innovation. Then when your convinced our services are right for your business we can begin by creating a long-term plan within your budget, with immediate short term results. Regardless of what your target market is, your online cash flow can be obtained and realized.

We go a step further. Once the target market for your corporation has been obtained, your short-term cash flow is stable, and your overall marketing campaign is alive and breathing with new clients; we then train you and/or your staff to use the same marketing techniques that your corporate competition may be using, so that, you stay ahead of the game for the long-term. The future of your online corporate success really does depend on having an arsenal at your disposal. I know this from experience, and can show you how to have the type of success you desire for your company and it's future, by giving you the stability and the know how to "Get the job done." Not to mention we build some of the hottest looking websites online.

Let us begin working for you today.

Sincerely,

William R. White
